DISTURBING INFLUENCE ON STOCK MARKET

New York, Nov. 22.—The news of Secretary McLaughlin's resignation had a disturbing influence on the stock market at the opening today, with the greatest effects shown in the railroad shares. Some of these issues showed opening losses of over a point, but after a few minutes more confidence was shown and in some cases the initial losses were more than recovered. Southern Pacific, after selling down 10 1/2 to 102, quickly moved up to above 102.

The copper stocks also showed heaviness in the first few minutes, but soon recovered all their losses. Mexican Petroleum, after opening lower at 16 1/2, moved up 2 points, while Studebaker, after yielding 1 1/2 to 35 1/2, moved up to 36 1/2.

Steel Common, after selling at 9 1/2, moved up to 100.

The noteworthy feature of the bond market was the heavy selling of fourth 4 1/2s, which sold at the low price of 97 1/2 for the first time since their listing on the exchange.

LIBERTY BONDS.
New York, Nov. 22.—Final prices on liberty bonds: 3 1/2s, 99.90; first convertibles, 96.90; second 4s, 96.10; 4 1/2s, 97.90; third 4 1/2s, 97.90; fourth 4 1/2s, 97.90.

TOTAL SALES OF STOCKS.
New York, Nov. 22.—Total sales of stocks today were 331,500 shares; bonds, 17,585,000.

Total sales of stocks for the week were 2,070,000 shares; bonds, 93,093,000.

MARINE HERO ESCAPES FROM HUNS; FALLS FOR PARISIAN SPOTLIGHT

(In N. S. by Gertrude Orr.)
Paris, Nov. 22.—By Mail.—His name is Smith, but everyone in Paris knows he has heard of him. He wears a croix de guerre and a D. S. C. He got into the front line for the most extreme bravery at the front. Then the "bottle of Paris" got into the front line for the most extreme bravery at the front. Then the "bottle of Paris" got into the front line for the most extreme bravery at the front.

He "licked" fuses and killed several hundred Germans with their own explosives before he was caught at it. And when at the eleventh hour, like the hero in a movie, he escaped and got back to a Paris hospital to tell the tale. It was so remarkable that no one believed it until official citations confirmed it.

Smith, whose first name is Jack, was refused for service when he first volunteered because he was too young. He finally succeeded in enlisting as a bugler in the marine corps and crossed to France with the first company of "scrapers."

When they reached the front, Private Smith threw away his bugle and got himself a gun. His company went into action on the Lorraine front and young Smith and two other bugler privates went so far and so fast that they lost their company and were taken prisoners.

The Germans, needing labor, held them just back of the lines, setting them to work at preparing hand grenades. The bugles were well enough for the time, whenever the backs of their guards were turned, cutting them short so that they could not be heard.

One night, when the young captain was none other than Private Jack J. Smith, of Atlanta, Ga., who, while entitled to wear the decorations which had made him such a hero in Paris, was not entitled to wear a captain's shoulder bars.

An investigative military policeman finally discovered that the young captain was none other than Private Jack J. Smith, of Atlanta, Ga., who, while entitled to wear the decorations which had made him such a hero in Paris, was not entitled to wear a captain's shoulder bars.
